New ~ Contract review benefit ~ NEW

A review of a proposed contract by an attorney licensed to practice law in Colorado that would summarize, in plain English, the contractual terms for areas of noted concern.

In the event that legal counsel recommends caution or change, the summary will include a note with the caution or the reason for the suggestion for change. The review and summary would be performed, for contracts that fall within a specified word count but does not take into consideration the bid documents, prime contract or other project documents that may impact the construction subcontract. Considerations outside the subcontract to be reviewed by the attorney would be at a rate to be determined between the client and the attorney.

Drafting proposed changes will not be included in the fee. Fees for contracts that exceed the word count ranges can be negotiated by contacting attorney.
