

ASAC Golf Committee ~ ASAC members who plan and execute the annual golf tournament. ASAC will be hosting the 30th Annual Golf Tournament in 2012

ASAC Awards Program ~ ASAC leadership host the annual awards program recognizing individuals and companies from the ASAC membership and Colorado construction industry.

ASA Advantage Program ~ Exclusive to ASA members nationwide, the ASA Advantage guide offers significant discounts designed specifically for the unique needs of the construction specialty contractor. The program is coordinated by ASA national headquarters and includes vendors such as Allstate, CNA, McGraw-Hill Construction, UPS, FedEx, The Blue Book of Construction, ConsensusDOCS, and more.

ASAC Safety/Work Comp Dividend Plan
Pinnacle policy holders can enroll in ASA of Colorado's Association Safety Plan through Forsberg Engerman Company or Willis of Colorado. The ASAC Safety Plan gives members the opportunity to earn bonus dividend returns based on their loss ratio and safety record. Its free to members and often the bonus dividends earned more than pays for membership dues!

ASAC Health and Safety Program

A team of dedicated professionals delivering a return on investment to ASAC members through outcome based benefits. Benefits that include safety education, training, self audit, tool box talks, jobsite hazard analysis and much more.

Training is offered monthly, OSHA training is offered quarterly and Safety Education Series is delivered quarterly. The ASAC Annual Health and Safety Symposium is held in November of each year at little or no cost to ASAC members.

ASAC membership is organizational versus individual. Your membership applies to your entire company; there is no limit to how many of your employees become active participants in the association.

Membership includes Regular Members — specialty trade contractors, and Associate Members — professional service providers and vendors to the construction industry. For less than $3 per day your company can enjoy the many benefits of ASAC — including membership in both the ASAC and ASA national organization.

Members Only ~ ASAC offers four, FREE monthly opportunities, for Members Only facilitated by professionals in legal, marketing, finance, communications, insurance and more.

Reading Between The Lines© ~ Contract Review, Podcasts, White Papers, Contract Documents and Addendums. The Contract Study Group and Contract Review is facilitated by construction law attorneys.

Contractor Business Interchange/CBI ~ Each month at the office of a general contractor, ASAC members have an opportunity to network, meet a general contractor and learn of opportunities to bid and secure work.

Committee Opportunities ~ ASAC provides members the opportunity to participate in a variety of committees and councils. Through a variety of programs, ASAC facilitates opportunities for members to develop their business skills, keep up with the latest trends in construction, collect information and develop valuable business relationships.

Government Relations Committee ~ This group develops/implements a proactive government relations program at the state and local levels, monitors and drives legislative reform, serves as the association's legislative liaison and directs grassroots efforts.

Membership Committee ~ Committee develops/implements strategies and activities to recruit and retain members, organizes and coordinates the Ambassador program and networking social events.

Education & Events Committee ~ Committee organizes and plans a calendar of educational programming, meeting speakers, events, fundraising activities and training opportunities for members.

Partners In Construction ~ A quarterly forum for subcontractors and general contractor partners to discuss mutual issues of concern affecting the construction team, improve the relationship within the construction team, identify and discuss industry trends, education needs and areas of improvement to promote relationships.

Associate Council ~ A monthly meeting where ASAC associate members meet to discuss what benefits and services they provide to the construction industry and other associate/supplier businesses. The Council discusses ways that the Association can support and assist them in their business development objectives and to identify and secure benefits that support and build the association.

Professional Hotline ~ A function of the Associate Council and comprised of professional members who support the ASAC membership by providing answers to questions to include legal, finance, insurance, work comp, healthcare, government projects, bonding and safety.

Safety Committee ~ This committee is made up of ASAC Safety Plan Participants, acts as the review panel for the ASAC Safety/Work Comp Plan, plan and execute the Safety Awards Program and develop the Annual Safety Training Schedule.
